Mrs. Maynard Dolloff of Gray was a guest of Mrs. R. R. Tibbetts Monday afternoon.

Robin, Gail and Kelly Dooen spent the week end with their grandmother, Mrs. Ruth Wilkin.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Bennett of Jefferson, N. H., are spending a few days at their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Gayland Dooen visited her sister, Mrs. Borden Lawson, and family, at Athens, Ont., during the week end.

Major General and Mrs. James D. Alger of Camp Kilmer, N. J., have been visiting in town several days this week.

Candace Smith and Sandra Millett spent the week end with Mrs. Frances Heath at Lovell and attended Fryburg Fair.

Mrs. William Sweatt and Mrs. Gloria Snyder, Robin, Darlene and the twins spent Tuesday visiting Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Sweatt at Frye.

Diane Cross, a student at Crescent Park School, picked a perfect apple bud Wednesday, Oct. 10. Dandelion blossoms are also reported.

Basu Parajuli of Nepal, a Farm Youth Exchange delegate, was guest speaker Wednesday evening at 8 p. m. at the Congregational Church.

Mundt-Allen Unit, American Legion Auxiliary, met at the Legion Home Tuesday evening with seven officers and 11 members present. The County Council meeting will be held at Buckfield Oct. 16. The next meeting will be held Oct. 23. The mystery package was won by Helen Smith.

Purity Chapter, OES, held its inspection Monday evening, Oct. 1, with thirty-five members and visitors were present. Associate Grand Matron Betty Jean Braley was the inspection officer. Other distinguished guests were, Meredith M. Dale, grand warden, and district deputy grand matron, District Five, Jeannette Swett.

A three days rainfall which accompanied the fringe of Hurricane "Daisy" brought streams to a high pitch during the week end. Roads were flooded in few places, but a rise of about another foot in the Androscoggin would have slowed traffic at Alder River and Mayville. Many intervals and some of the lesser traveled ways were flooded for several hours. Motors at the Richard Davis sawmill near Alder River bridge were raised before water reached them.

COMMITTEE REVIEWS LOAN APPLICATIONS — APPROVES 3 HOME LOANS

The Oxford County FHA Committee met recently in the Farmers Home Administration office in South Paris with the following members present: Edward O. Kahkonen of Norway, Chairman of the group; Merle Brown of Norway Center; George H. Stearns of Fryburg; and Elwyn R. Morrow of South Paris, County Supervisor. At this meeting the committee received several operating loan applications for purchasing cattle and equipment and also several loans for purchasing farms. The group also approved three loans for new homes under the new Rural Housing program.

Mr. Morrow advised the group that he recently received funds to process all rural housing loan applications that had been approved. Since July 1, Mr. Morrow pointed out, 23 rural housing loans totaling $134,900.00 have been processed for Oxford County. Ten of these loans, totaling $104,000, were for new homes and 13 were for other home improvements amounting to $30,900.

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The town roads came through the heavy week end rains in very good condition. The water was over the road in three places but only washed the shoulder away in one place. The highway crew had to repair a section of road in Mason where the entire width of the road washed away. The Mason roads are paid for by the County so the town will be reimbursed for the work.

The local civil defense unit was alerted at the beginning of the storm and was prepared to help anyone who needed assistance due to the highwater.

The town is fortunate to have an active civil defense unit that is ready to aid people in an emergency. Many people think of civil defense as an organization concerned only with the aftermath of an enemy attack on this country. This is but one of the functions provided by the local civil defense.

The civil defense special police assist in traffic control at fires and other local emergencies where traffic control is necessary. The regular civil defense unit is prepared to act in the event of any natural emergency such as floods, storms and high water to mention a few. An alerted organization with prepared plans of action could be invaluable in a major catastrophe. I have just touched on a small part of the activities engaged in by the local unit.

Steve Jacobs, the civil defense director, and all of his men are performing a very real and necessary service for the town. We all hope that the town doesn't experience any catastrophe, but we should appreciate the time and work of the civil defense unit preparing for any emergency.

How a Shell research team got 168.47 miles per gallon

A Shell research team drove this car to a Mileage Marathon record. They used the same Shell fuel that could be bought at Shell stations.

168 miles per gallon must be a world record. Here's how the record was made—and how a quiet marriage of careful driving and today's Super Shell can help you get better mileage.

SOME years ago, a group of Shell scientists had a friendly argument. The gist of it: who could get the most miles from a gallon of gasoline. They decided to find out. And Shell's Mileage Marathon was born. All contestants had to use the same gasoline anybody could buy at a Shell station. Beyond that, the Marathon had few rules. And ingenuity ran wild.

How the record was set

Here are some of the things that Dave Berry and Fred Schuette, the winning team, did to set their record.

None are recommended for informal marathons. But they do offer a few clues on how to get more miles per gallon.

- Berry and Schuette removed their engine cooling fan to save power and muffled their radiator to retain heat.
- They used tires worn smooth and pumped up to 50 pounds pressure to cut rolling friction to a minimum.
- On the road, they accelerated to 20 miles per hour, cut the ignition and rolled until speed dropped to 5 miles per hour. Then they repeated the cycle.

NOTE: they used a standard carburetor from an old one-cylinder engine.

Since "on-and-off" driving is illegal on public roads—and since most Marathon modifications are dangerous for normal use—you may wonder if Shell's Mileage Marathon had any point.

Indeed it did. In the months of preparations, every contestant learned a bit more about the care and feeding of automobiles. Knowledge of this sort gets passed along to you in the form of better Shell products for your car.

EXAMPLE: As a result of Shell's research studies, including many mileage tests, one of the 9 ingredients in today's Super Shell is a mileage-booster called Platformate. This ingredient alone can release up to 8 percent more energy per gallon than the finest 100-octane aviation gasoline. Result: extra mileage.

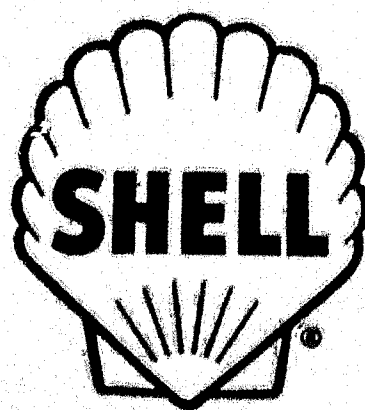

To help boost mileage even more, follow these driving tips from Berry and Schuette.

How you can save gasoline

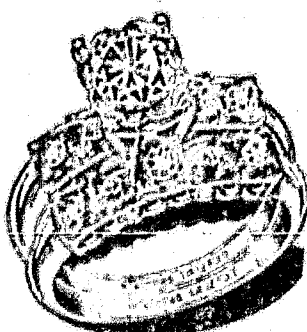

1. Don't race your engine when standing still. Unnecessary engine speed is pure waste and takes you nowhere.

2. Avoid jackrabbit starts. Fast getaways waste gasoline and power.
3. Drive at moderate speeds. Your car uses about 25 percent more gasoline at 65 mph than at 45 mph.
4. Keep an even speed. Ragged driving uses extra fuel—without taking full advantage of the power it could generate.
5. Pace yourself in traffic. Don't be the fastest or the slowest. You'll just be trapped into wasteful spurts and slowdowns.
6. Keep tires up to their proper pressure. Soft tires can soak up power.
7. Ask your Shell dealer about these checks: Spark timing should be set correctly. Fuel filters and air cleaner should be cleaned regularly. Brakes should be properly adjusted. And your cooling system thermostat must work right.

Motorists who follow these rules, and use Super Shell, can expect good mileage. Chances are, you can improve the mileage you are now getting. Now that you know how, why not give it a try?

LEAVES TREACHEROUS ON PAVEMENT, STATE POLICE WARN

Autumn leaves are mighty pretty on the trees, but they can be very treacherous on the pavement, motorists are warned by the State Police.

"Files of leaves at the curb are considered by smaller children as a welcome and different type of play area," the police cautioned. "Such piles should be approached with the utmost caution, as they may conceal a youngster who, forgetting his safety training, has hidden there in the course of a game of hide-and-seek."

The enforcement group pointed out that wet leaves also present another hazard to motorists because the collection of moisture under an accumulation of leaves make that portion of the roadway slippery and dangerous for a driver who fails to exercise extraordinary care.

"The falling leaves and dropping temperatures should also serve to remind motorists that October is car inspection month and that a visit to an official inspection station is in order," added the police. "It is very essential, too, to check carefully on our driving habits and make sure that we 'winterize' these habits. Speeds which were safe on dry summer pavements will not be as safe on wet autumn roads and a little later on winter roads which are covered with ice or snow. Obviously, we must slow down when we encounter rain, mist, sleet, fog, snow or ice.

They also emphasized that, even on the coldest days and nights, ventilation is important to avoid drowsiness and the danger of carbon monoxide poisoning. At least one window should be open to insure this ventilation. Again, there will be some days when light must be turned on even in mid-day, if visibility becomes poor because of a storm or as a result of fog.

"These seasonal changes make it imperative for us to effect a 'change-over' in our driving habits," concluded the State Police. "As we go about the business of getting our cars inspected, let's make certain that we also conduct a careful inspection of our driving habits. A mechanically safe, or who drives 'according to conditions' is our best insurance against traffic trouble."
